

Brendan Cronin and Elizabeth Garnsey , (19 October 2007),
"Daylight Saving in GB; Is there evidence in favour of clock time on GMT?"

This unpublished pilot study has been abridged and reissued in updated form in October 2009 which can be downloaded at:

Regression findings from a more extensive modelling exercise supercede those in the 2007 version of the paper and are reported in a new paper:

"Daylight Saving, Electricity Demand and Emissions; Exploratory Studies from Great Britain", October 2009, by Yu-Foong Chong, Elizabeth Garnsey, Simon Hill and Frederic Desobry
