Capturing Value in International Manufacturing and Supply Networks - new models for a changing world

Accepted Papers

Advances in augmented reality for operating global manufacturing value chains
Wasim A Khan and Amir Hussain
Institute for Business Administration

Modelling a sustainable supply chain network for the fragmented value chain
Sekhar Chattopadhyay, Tomás Harrington and Steve Evans
Institute for Manufacturing, University of Cambridge

Safety and environmental policies for high risk manufacturing organisations expanding to emerging economies
Ian Hipkin
École Supérieure de Commerce de Pau

Influencing factors on planning process design and their impact
Katharina Adaev
Fraunhofer Institute for Material Flow and Logistics

Understanding the essential factors of sustainable supply chain management (SSCM): Towards a tentative framework
Ali Esfahbodi, Yufeng Zhang and Glyn Watson
Birmingham Business School

Supply chain integration and bullwhip effect reduction through gradual safety stock replenishment
Marco Davino
Bain and Company

A transaction cost approach to cooperatives companies' supply chain: case study in a Brazilian dairy cooperative
Fernanda Pacheco Dohms and Sergio Luiz Lessa de Gusmão
Pontifícia Universidade Católica do Rio Grande do Sul – Brazil

Mastering innovation life cycles from a supply chain perspective: A framework for aligning supply chains along the maturity of technology life cycles
Katja Klingebiel¹ and Matthias Parlings²
Technical University Dortmund¹
Fraunhofer Institute for Material Flow and Logistics²

Configuration and evaluation of production networks using a maturity model based approach
O Abdul Rahman¹,², A Kluth¹,² and A Schatz¹,²
¹Fraunhofer Institute for Manufacturing Engineering and Automation – IPA, Germany
²Institute of Industrial Manufacturing and Management – IFF, University of Stuttgart, Germany
Co-creating value across supply networks: Towards an agenda for supply chain design engineering capability development
Saikat Kundu1*, Alison McKay1, Richard Baker2, Alan de Pennington1, Richard Thorpe3
1School of Mechanical Engineering, University of Leeds
2Rolls-Royce Plc
3Leeds University Business School, University of Leeds

Market effect and innovative capability development in cross-border M&As: an empirical study on Chinese listed manufacturing firms
Xiaobo Wu, Jing Li and Yu Gao
Zhejiang University

Factors related to local supply base development affecting production localisation in China
Professor Monica Bellgran and Jianyuan Xie
Mälardalen University

Institutional distance and entry mode strategy of Brazilian multinationals
Gabriel Vouga Chueke and Felipe Mendes Borini
ESPM, Brazil

Innovating differently: learning with Brazilian multinationals
Afonso Fleury1 and Maria Tereza Leme Fleury2
University of Sao Paulo, Brazil1
Fundacao Getulio Vargas2

The effects of demand patterns on supply chain costs for suppliers and manufacturers under supply chain constraints
Laird Burns
University of Alabama in Huntsville

Sourcing factors affecting production localization decisions
Professor Monica Bellgran, Jessica Bruch, Jayaprakash Lakshmikanthan and Godfred Tabiri
Mälardalen University

Leveraging ERP systems capabilities and collaborative enterprise governance for agile manufacturing: a new dynamic enterprise reference grid
Yi Wan and Ben Clegg
Aston Business School, Aston University

Explore ERP and informality: international manufacturers in China
Yucan Wang
Aston University

Credit bubble burst and new sustainable economy opportunity in the Baltic States
Olli-Pekka Hilmola
Lappeenranta University of Technology
NIS and Innovation Policies of SMEs in China in 1997-2008
Xiaoyun Tang and Huifen Cai
Hull University Business School

Capturing value from service networks in the transition from products to solutions
Nicola Saccani1, Marco Paiola2 and Heiko Gebauer3
Università di Brescia1
University of Padua2
Eawag: Swiss Federal Institute of Aquatic Science & Technology3
A framework for outsourcing manufacturing in emerging countries
Professor Samuel Vieira Conceição
Federal University of Minas Gerais

Global value chains and global production networks: towards a synthesis?
Luiz Ojima Sakuda and Afonso Fleury
University of São Paulo

Nested patterns in large-scale automotive supply networks
Alexandra Brintrup¹, ² and Tomomi Kito³
University of Oxford¹
Cranfield University²
University of Tokyo³

Role of policy in enhancing manufacturing competitiveness of India
Dr Amit Kapoor¹, Anshul Pachouri¹ and Dr Tomas Harrington²
Institute for Competitiveness, India¹
Institute for Manufacturing, University of Cambridge²

Quality risk management in global supply network: an agent based approach
Johannes Book¹; Mukesh Kumar²; Gisela Lanza¹; Jag Srai²
Institute of Production Science (wbk)¹
Institute for Manufacturing, University of Cambridge²

Entry strategy for global players in India- people resource and talent pool (global industrial systems, changing landscapes and trajectories)
Shailendra Singh and Soarabh Pathak
Maruti Suzuki India Limited

Postponement strategies in the international clothing industry: an empirical study
Prof. B. L. MacCarthy and Amila Jayarathe
University of Nottingham

Czech manufacturing sector capacity for value creation and capture
Anna Kaderabkova and Said Moghadam Saman
Centre for Economic Studies, Prague

Capabilities and competitiveness of Chinese state owned manufacturing enterprises: What has been learned over 20 years and what remains to be learned.
Kirit Vaidya¹, Matthew Hall¹, Jinsheng He², Xudong Gao³ and David Bennett⁴
Aston Business School¹
Tianjin University²
Tsinghua University³
Chalmers University of Technology⁴

Managing Social Food Supply Chain
Dr. Gyan Prakash
Indian Institute of Management Indore

Future development and motives of manufacturing offshoring among firms operating in Finland
Harri Lorentz, Tomi Solakivi, Juuso Töyli and Lauri Ojala
Turku School of Economics, University of Turku